

Animals in the Bible – Goats

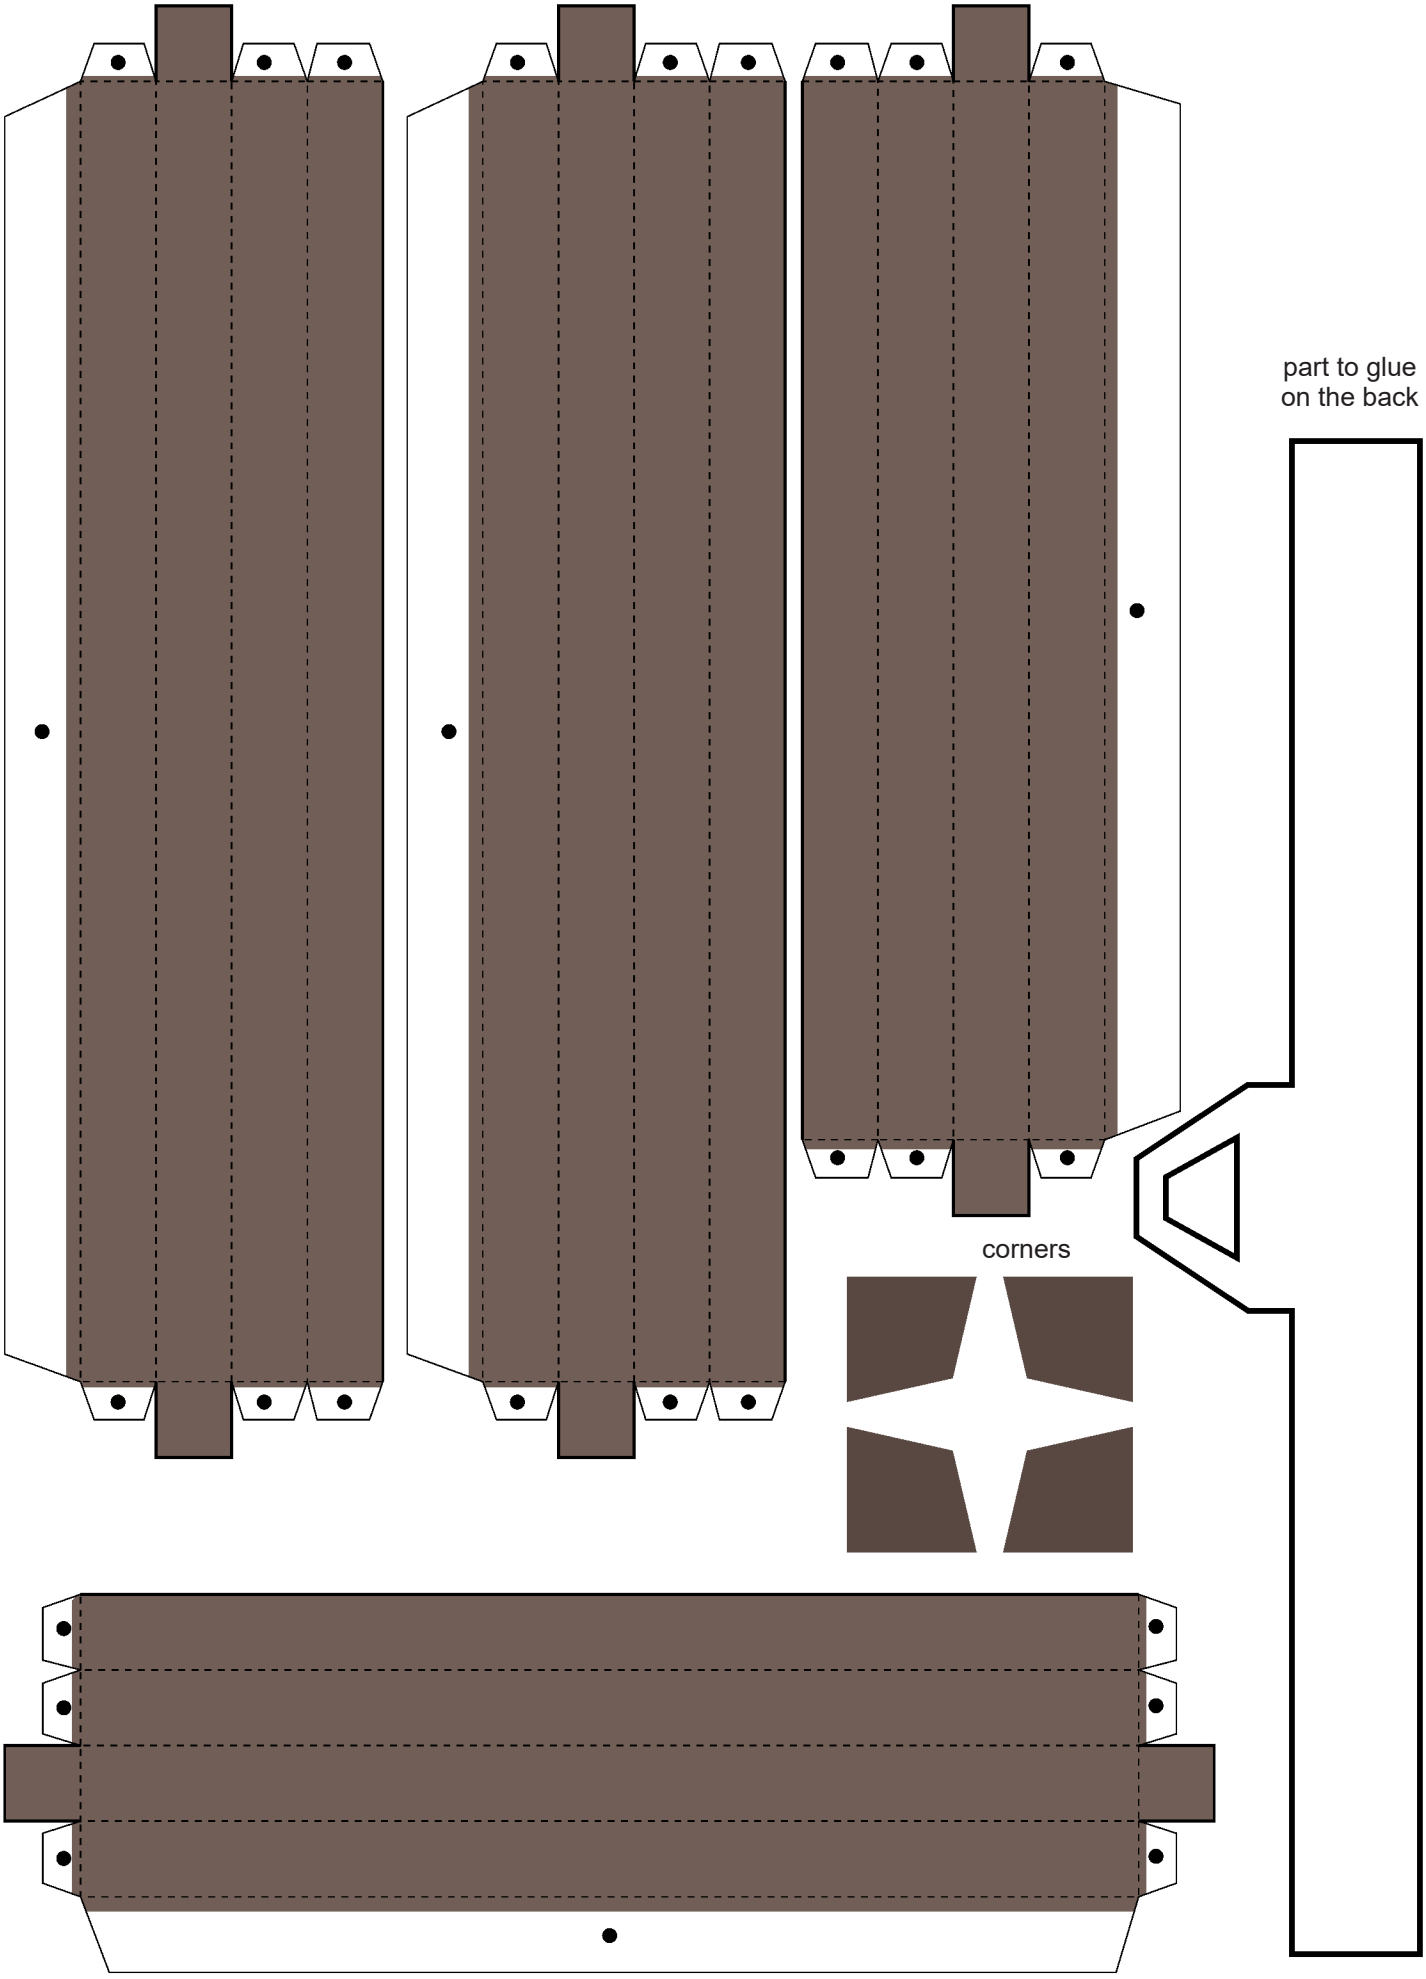
Goats were common in Bible times, used for their milk and meat; also, the skin was used for making things such as water bottles, and the goat's hair was spun and woven into cloth to make clothing and tents. The goat's hair was used in making curtains for the Tabernacle (Exodus 26:7).

Goats were also used as animals to sacrifice (Leviticus 16:4-5). In Leviticus 16:7-10, we find the concept of the scapegoat, where a goat is chosen to bear the sins of the people and sent into the wilderness, representing the removal of guilt and the atonement for sin.

This symbolizes Jesus, who took upon Himself the sins of humanity and offered Himself as the ultimate sacrifice for our redemption.

The goat is used as an image to separate the good people from the bad people during the final judgment (Matthew 25:31-32)

Illustrations by Didier Martin - Copyright © 2024 by Didier Martin
www.mylittlehouse.org - https://blog-mylittlehouse.weebly.com/
Permission granted to print for personal use only. Distribution is prohibited.



part to glue
on the back corners
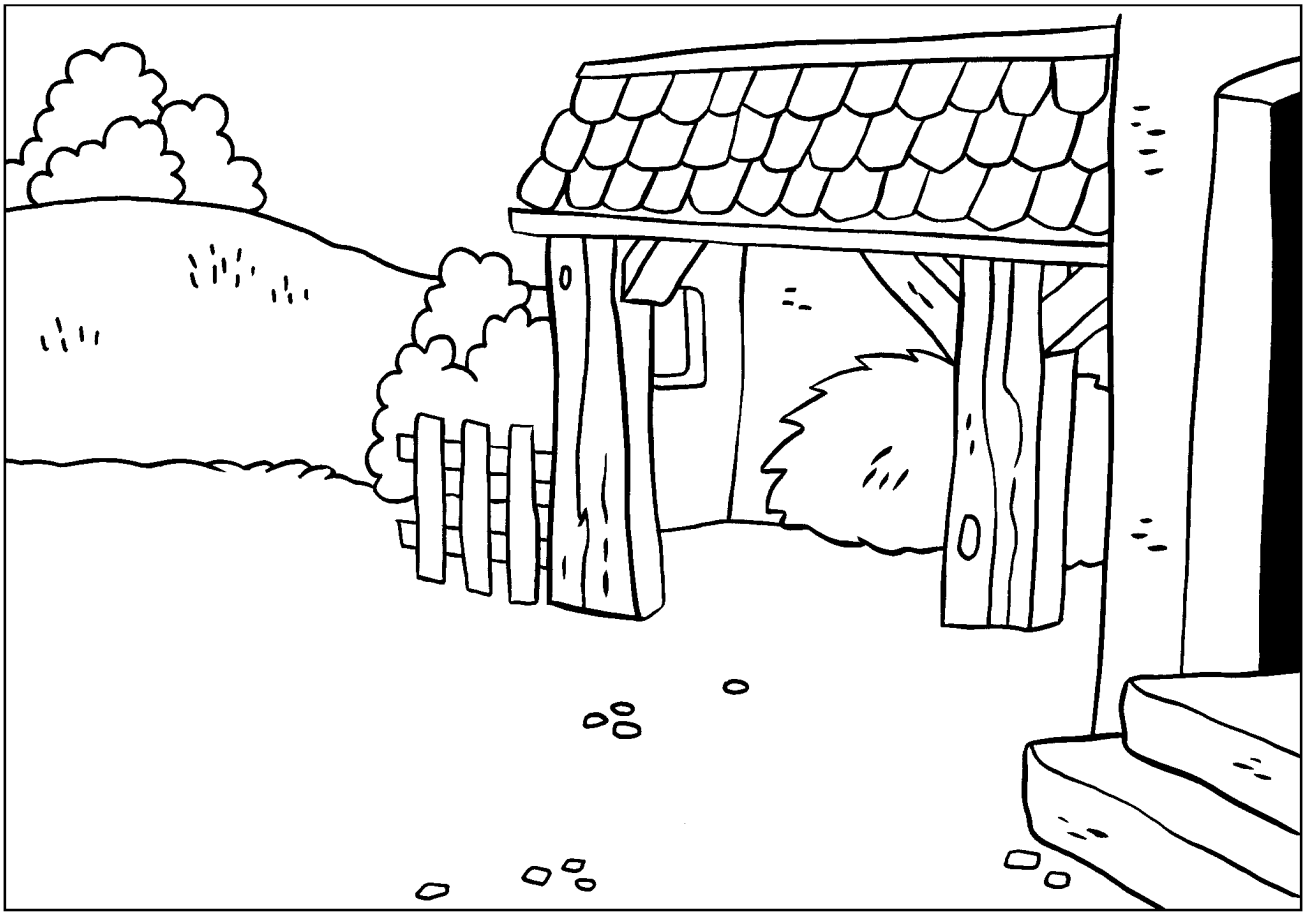
parts for the frame



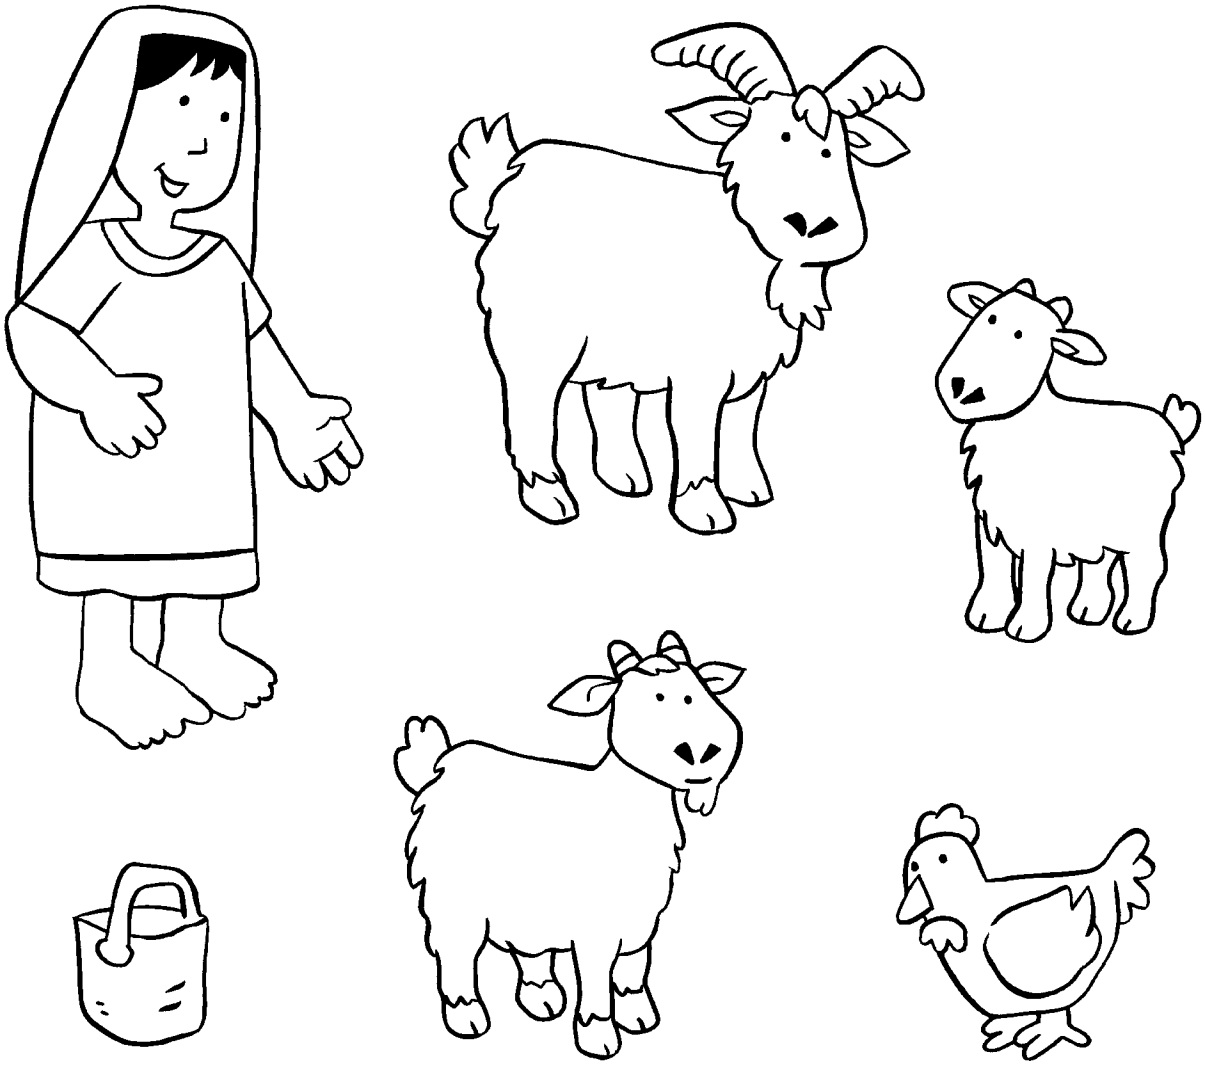
Animals in the Bible – Goats

Goats were common in Bible times, used for their milk and meat; also, the skin was used for making things such as water bottles, and the goat's hair was spun and woven into cloth to make clothing and tents. The goat's hair was used in making curtains for the Tabernacle (Exodus 26:7).

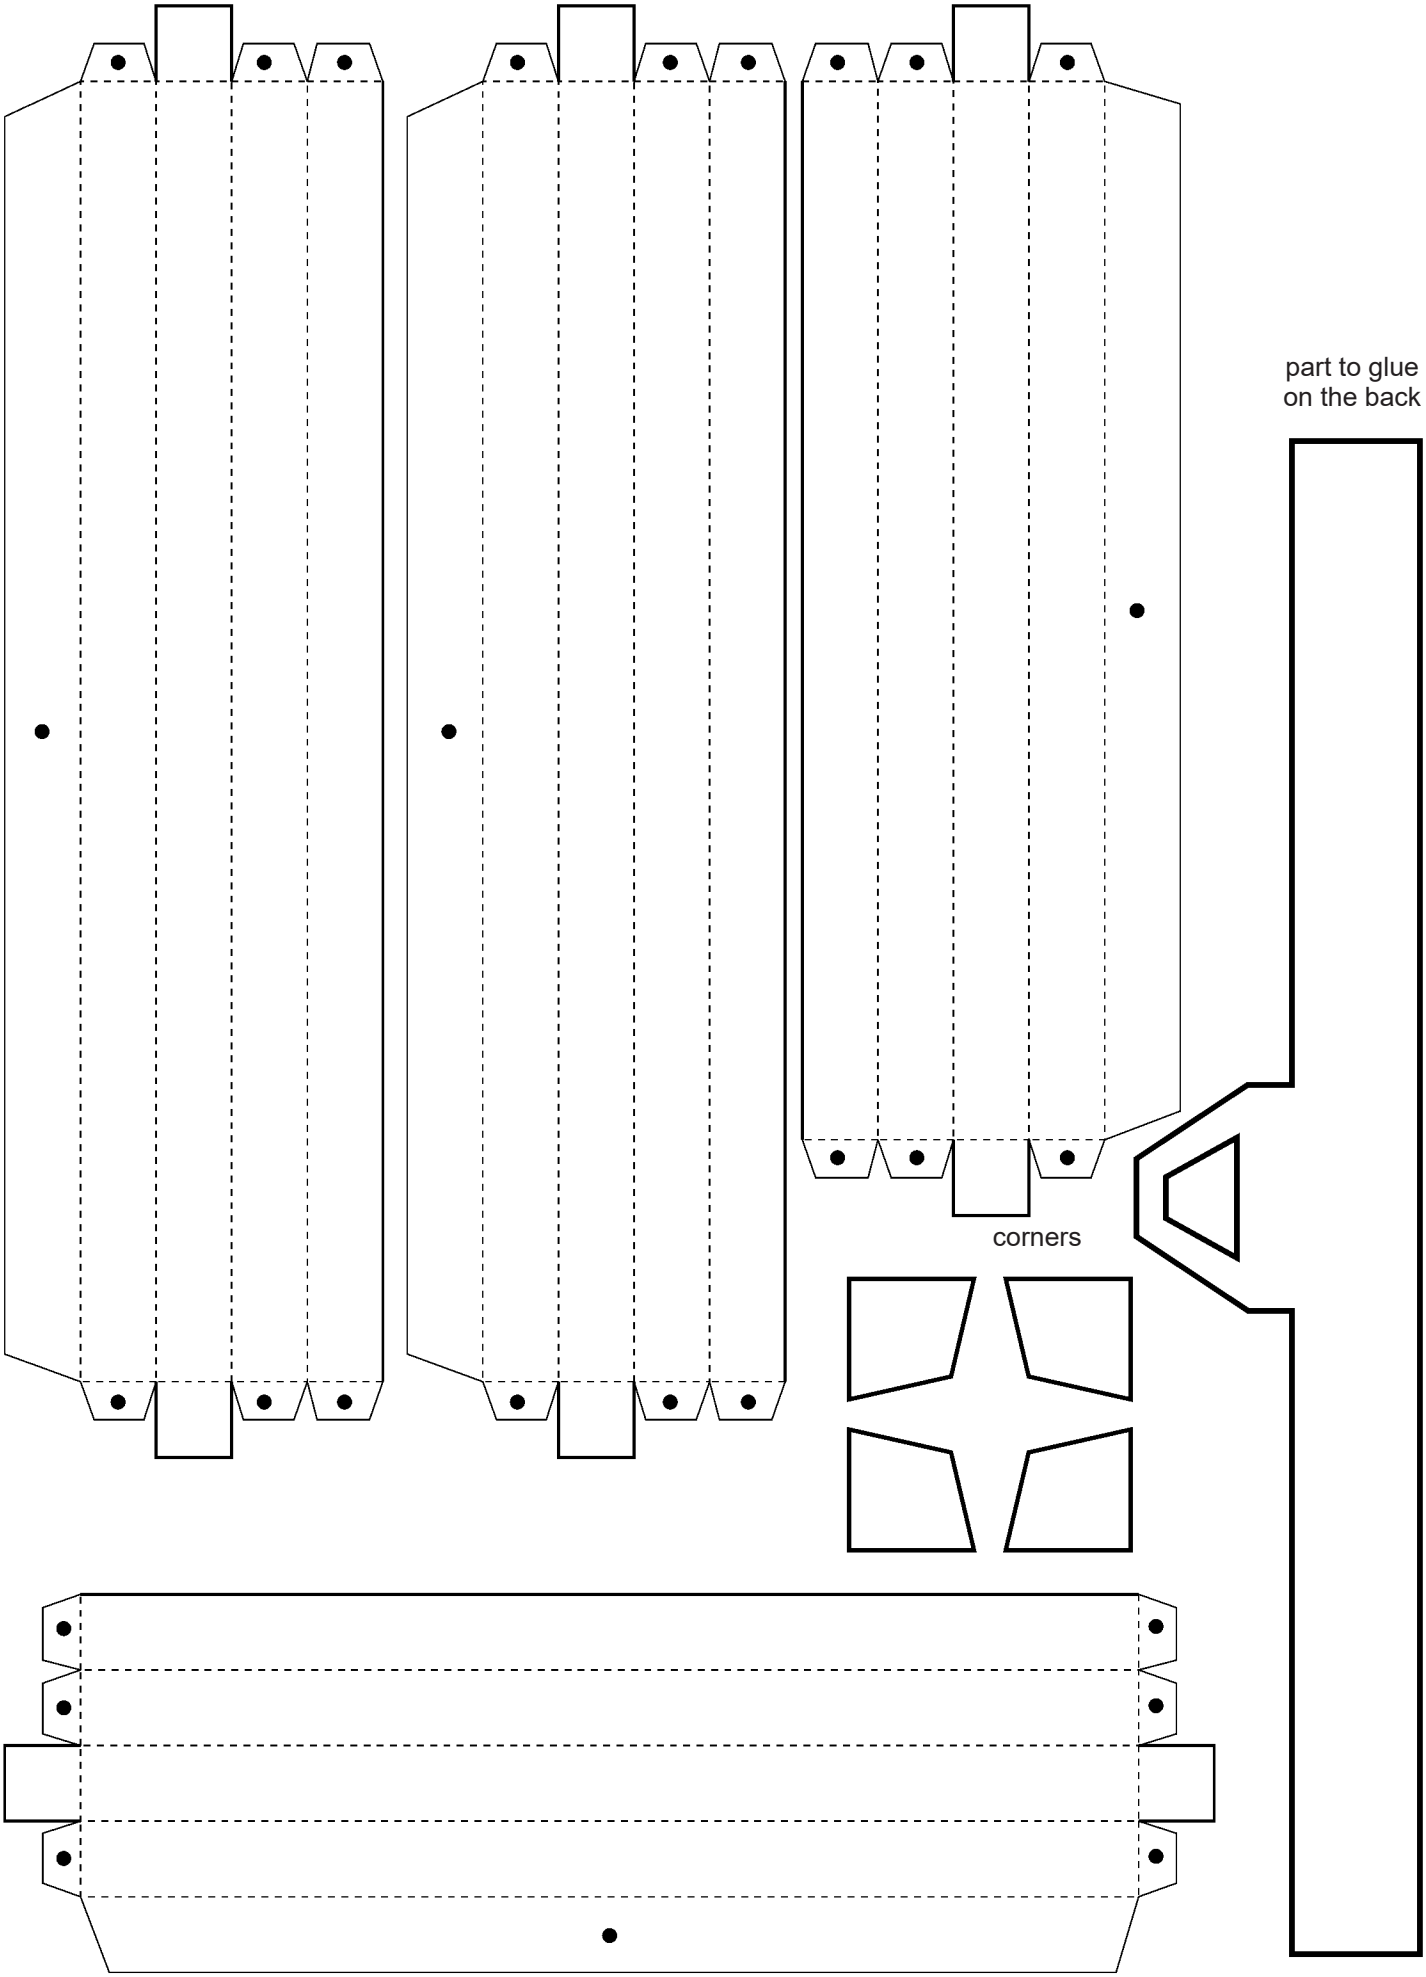
Goats were also used as animals to sacrifice (Leviticus 16:4-5). In Leviticus 16:7-10, we find the concept of the scapegoat, where a goat is chosen to bear the sins of the people and sent into the wilderness, representing the removal of guilt and the atonement for sin.

This symbolizes Jesus, who took upon Himself the sins of humanity and offered Himself as the ultimate sacrifice for our redemption.

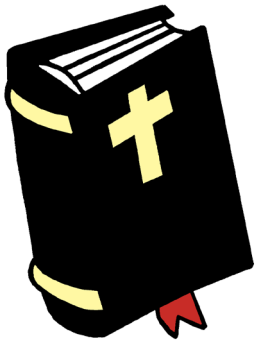
The goat is used as an image to separate the good people from the bad people during the final judgment (Matthew 25:31-32)



Illustrations by Didier Martin - Copyright © 2024 by Didier Martin
www.mylittlehouse.org - https://blog-mylittlehouse.weebly.com/
Permission granted to print for personal use only. Distribution is prohibited.



parts for the frame



Animals in the Bible – Goats

Goats were common in Bible times, used for their milk and meat; also, the skin was used for making things such as water bottles, and the goat's hair was spun and woven into cloth to make clothing and tents. The goat's hair was used in making curtains for the Tabernacle (Exodus 26:7).

Goats were also used as animals to sacrifice (Leviticus 16:4-5). In Leviticus 16:7-10, we find the concept of the scapegoat, where a goat is chosen to bear the sins of the people and sent into the wilderness, representing the removal of guilt and the atonement for sin.

This symbolizes Jesus, who took upon Himself the sins of humanity and offered Himself as the ultimate sacrifice for our redemption.

The goat is used as an image to separate the good people from the bad people during the final judgment (Matthew 25:31-32)

Animals in the Bible – Goats

Goats were common in Bible times, used for their milk and meat; also, the skin was used for making things such as water bottles, and the goat's hair was spun and woven into cloth to make clothing and tents. The goat's hair was used in making curtains for the Tabernacle (Exodus 26:7).

Goats were also used as animals to sacrifice (Leviticus 16:4-5). In Leviticus 16:7-10, we find the concept of the scapegoat, where a goat is chosen to bear the sins of the people and sent into the wilderness, representing the removal of guilt and the atonement for sin.

This symbolizes Jesus, who took upon Himself the sins of humanity and offered Himself as the ultimate sacrifice for our redemption.

The goat is used as an image to separate the good people from the bad people during the final judgment (Matthew 25:31-32)