

Animals in the Bible – Snakes

In the Garden of Eden, the serpent was used by Satan to lead Eve into disobedience. God cursed the snake: “You are cursed more than all livestock and all wild animals! You will crawl on your belly and eat dust all of your life.” (Read Genesis 3:1–15.)

God sent Moses and Aaron to ask Pharaoh to let the Hebrew people leave Egypt. God told Moses to have Aaron throw his staff on the floor in front of Pharoah, and it became a snake. Pharaoh’s magicians did the same, but Aaron’s snake ate the magicians’ snakes. (Read Exodus 7:1–13.)

As the Hebrews followed Moses through the desert, many complained about their difficult conditions, so God allowed poisonous snakes in among the people. Then the Lord told Moses, “Mount an image of a snake on a pole. When anyone who is bitten looks at it, he’ll recover.” (Read Number 21:4–9 and John 3:14–15.)

Apostle Paul was bitten by a venomous snake on the island of Malta. (Read Acts 28:1–10.)

In the book of Revelation, Satan is referred to as a snake, “the great dragon, the ancient serpent known as the Devil and Satan, the deceiver of the world.” (Read Revelation 12:9.)
