

Zaphenath-paneah, the Shepherd Boy

Long ago in Israel, the patriarch, Jacob, had many sons. His youngest son, Joseph, was his favorite. Because of this, his older brothers were jealous of the special attention their father showed Joseph and there would often mock him.

On one occasion, the older brothers were so furious with Joseph that they sold him as a slave to strangers on a caravan to Egypt. It was a terrible thing to do, but God worked out a special plan for the life of this young shepherd.

After becoming a slave, at one point Joseph was falsely accused and thrown into prison. Though this was very discouraging for Joseph, he kept his faith in God, and God even used this experience to eventually bring him before Egypt's Pharaoh, whom Joseph was able to help by interpreting his dreams.

The Hebrew boy, Joseph, by staying close to God even during difficult circumstances, later was honored by Pharaoh and given the Egyptian name, Zaphenath-paneah. At the young age of thirty he was promoted to be a ruler in Egypt, second in command under Pharaoh.

You can read Joseph amazing life story in the Book of Genesis, chapters 37, 39 to 50.

part to glue
on the back

parts for the frame

Zaphenath-paneah, the Shepherd Boy

Long ago in Israel, the patriarch, Jacob, had many sons. His youngest son, Joseph, was his favorite. Because of this, his older brothers were jealous of the special attention their father showed Joseph and there would often mock him.

On one occasion, the older brothers were so furious with Joseph that they sold him as a slave to strangers on a caravan to Egypt. It was a terrible thing to do, but God worked out a special plan for the life of this young shepherd.

After becoming a slave, at one point Joseph was falsely accused and thrown into prison. Though this was very discouraging for Joseph, he kept his faith in God, and God even used this experience to eventually bring him before Egypt's Pharaoh, whom Joseph was able to help by interpreting his dreams.

The Hebrew boy, Joseph, by staying close to God even during difficult circumstances, later was honored by Pharaoh and given the Egyptian name, Zaphenath-paneah. At the young age of thirty he was promoted to be a ruler in Egypt, second in command under Pharaoh.

You can read Joseph amazing life story in the Book of Genesis, chapters 37, 39 to 50.

corners

part to glue
on the back

parts for the frame

Zaphenath-paneah, the Shepherd Boy

Long ago in Israel, the patriarch, Jacob, had many sons. His youngest son, Joseph, was his favorite. Because of this, his older brothers were jealous of the special attention their father showed Joseph and there would often mock him.

On one occasion, the older brothers were so furious with Joseph that they sold him as a slave to strangers on a caravan to Egypt. It was a terrible thing to do, but God worked out a special plan for the life of this young shepherd.

After becoming a slave, at one point Joseph was falsely accused and thrown into prison. Though this was very discouraging for Joseph, he kept his faith in God, and God even used this experience to eventually bring him before Egypt's Pharaoh, whom Joseph was able to help by interpreting his dreams.

The Hebrew boy, Joseph, by staying close to God even during difficult circumstances, later was honored by Pharaoh and given the Egyptian name, Zaphenath-paneah. At the young age of thirty he was promoted to be a ruler in Egypt, second in command under Pharaoh.

You can read Joseph amazing life story in the Book of Genesis, chapters 37, 39 to 50.

Zaphenath-paneah, the Shepherd Boy

Long ago in Israel, the patriarch, Jacob, had many sons. His youngest son, Joseph, was his favorite. Because of this, his older brothers were jealous of the special attention their father showed Joseph and there would often mock him.

On one occasion, the older brothers were so furious with Joseph that they sold him as a slave to strangers on a caravan to Egypt. It was a terrible thing to do, but God worked out a special plan for the life of this young shepherd.

After becoming a slave, at one point Joseph was falsely accused and thrown into prison. Though this was very discouraging for Joseph, he kept his faith in God, and God even used this experience to eventually bring him before Egypt's Pharaoh, whom Joseph was able to help by interpreting his dreams.

The Hebrew boy, Joseph, by staying close to God even during difficult circumstances, later was honored by Pharaoh and given the Egyptian name, Zaphenath-paneah. At the young age of thirty he was promoted to be a ruler in Egypt, second in command under Pharaoh.

You can read Joseph amazing life story in the Book of Genesis, chapters 37, 39 to 50.